

Regulation Redesign

Simplifying rules for city building

The Regulation Redesign project aims to simplify and clarify the city's land use rules, making them easier to find and easier to use.

Based on the issues and ideas we heard from you throughout 2018 and 2019, we have been refining and developing options to update, consolidate and clarify regulations.

Drop in at one of the events (details on reverse) for an update on this work and to share your comments, or send us your feedback through the project website. You can also join our email list to receive project updates.
